Budget Committee Visits Whitehall

The Legislature Budget Committee Wednesday began its inspection tour of state institutions with a trip to Whitehall, the state home for children in Lincoln.

At the close of the tour, made by seven of the nine members of the committee, the senators appeared to be well satisfied with the operation of home. No official statement is issued following the tours, which are made purely for the senators' information.

Attending the tour were Chairman Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City, Senators Karl E. Vogel of Lincoln, William A. McHenry of Nelson, A. A. Fenske of Sunol, K. W. Peterson of Sargent, H. K. Diets of Oshesha, and Otto H. Liebers of Lincoln.

Mrs. Blanche M. Clouse, superintendent of the home, told the group, "I don't feel we have any great problems. We do have problems, however."

Among those she mentioned was the danger of losing teachers at the new $200,000 school "unless they get a pay raise this year."

She said the current salaries range from $3,000 to $3,300 annually.

In line with this, she emphasized that the biggest problem was maintaining a staff of good personnel.

The senators commented very favorably on the cleanliness of the buildings and were particularly impressed by conditions at the year-old school.

In answer to the legislators' questioning, Mrs. Clouse said the home maintains a steady population of about 100 children, with about 40 leaving and 40 entering each year.

The children, from babies to youths in their late teens, are placed in homes if and when it is possible. It was pointed out to the senators that many of the children are not orphans but are wards of the state from broken or neglected families.

The inspecting group toured most of the classrooms while they were in session and visited the nursery and living quarters.

A budget of $230,000 was allowed the institution for the past biennium, Mrs. Clouse said, and less than the budget was actually spent.

The Budget Committee is charged with drawing up the entire appropriations list for the legislature. This involves the amount of money state agencies and state institutions will be allowed to spend from July 1, 1955 to June 30, 1957.

Committee Sends 3 Bills On To Unicameral File

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Three bills heard by the committee on judiciary of the Legislature Wednesday afternoon were advanced to general file and one was held in committee.

L.B. 29, introduced by Sen. Robert Perry of Lincoln, was one of those advanced.

It makes it unlawful for a minor to sell, dispense or have physical control of any alcoholic liquor.

Perry said he believed it was the original intent of the Legislature to have the law so read.

He explained that it was a correctional move to amplify the provision that reads "possession" rather than "physical control."

W. W. Putney of Lincoln was the principal speaker for the bill explaining that he is a Sunday School teacher and that two 13-year-old girls from his class went "wrong" as a result of helping serve beer in a tavern.

Beverage Group Favors
Henry Grenemeyer of the Nebraska Licensed Beverage Dealers Association said the measure was favored by members of the association.

Gordon Preble, president of the Nebraska Federation of Labor, said the law was "long overdue" and would help to solve the juvenile delinquency problem. He urged the committee to not worry about the technicalities that might inconvenience some who would be affected.

Sen. A. W. Swanson, Holdrege, a cosponsor, told the committee the "merits outweigh any inconveniences."

Sen. Norman Otto of Kearney told of the growing population at the Boys Training School and the Boys Training School and urged Supt. M. L. Wimberley as blaming most of it on liquor.

Representatives of the P.T.A. and church groups also spoke for the bill. There was no opposition.

Learner's Permit Talked
Sen. Earl Lee spoke in behalf of L.B. 23 which he introduced. It provides that youth between 15 and a half and 16 years of age, who have "learner's permits" to drive auto-

Army Takes GI's Stripes After Probe

Colonel Reprimanded
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army said Wednesday night it has revoked the promotion from private first class to corporal of a soldier-dictator because he invoked the Fifth Amendment on questions about communism.

Advancement of such individuals violates regulations, the Army said, and the colonel who promoted PFC. Marvin S. Belsky has been given a formal reprimand. The officer was identified as Col. Arthur J. Redland, the commanding officer at Murphy General Hospital in Waltham, Mass.

The Army announcement came a few hours after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said he had learned of Belsky's promotion "within the last six weeks." The senator likened it to the stormy case of former Maj. Irving Peress.

Joe 'Curious'
McCarthy said he had asked the Army for a report on Belsky, who is on the medical staff at Murphy hospital.

After the Army announcement, McCarthy told a reporter: "I'll be curious to see an explanation of why they waited until our subcommittee got into the matter before acting. Does it take a congressional committee to induce the Army to properly handle our Fifth Amendment private?"

Ike Says:

Choice In '56 Is His

President Joins GOP Backers Of Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower took the position Wednesday that it will be up to him personally to decide whether it is his duty to run again in 1956. He also joined other Republicans in defending Vice President Nixon, his 1952 running mate, from Democratic criticisms. He suggested that words taken out of context from the Nixon's 1954 campaign speeches could have prompted the attacks.

He replied with a prompt single word, "bosh," when asked whether, in advocating a late 1956 GOP convention and a shorter campaign in recent talks with party chairman Leonard W. Hall, he was indicating he will be a candidate again next year.

The chief executive told a news conference he hopes he never would be so self-centered as to fail to respond to a call to duty. But he stressed that such things must be decided by the individual concerned and he certainly would want to know in critical circumstances what his duty was.

Sense Of Duty
Some pro-Eisenhower Republicans have been saying that the President, even though he may be reluctant to run again, would be prevailed upon to do so through a sense of duty to the country or, as some put it more narrowly, to his party.

But reporters, sounding out the President on this reasoning, as usual came up with no real information.

As for former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's conversation with him at the White House stag dinner last Monday night, he said Dewey merely explained to him the joys of private life. Dewey is now practicing law in New York. He had been reported as urging the President to run again, a step which several other dinner guests said later they approved.

Short Campaign
The President confirmed reports of last weekend that he favored a late party convention next year and a shorter campaign. The Republicans are talking of a September convention while the Democrats have determined on Aug. 27 for theirs, although historically they are held much earlier.

He said he told Chairman Hall that it was foolish to drag out the presidential campaigns, that it would be well to have a later convention.

"Were you aware, in approving the idea of a late convention, that you would be giving the impression that you will be the candidate?" a reporter asked.

Bosh! the President retorted amid a roar of laughter.

Bank Begins Construction Of Drive-In
Construction of drive-in teller facilities at the National Bank of Commerce were reported in progress Wednesday, the same day the city granted a building permit for the $152,000 project.

The new facilities, located at 1225 P. west of the Varsity Theater Building, on the site of the old Dr. J. Stanley Welch house, is scheduled for completion on May 31.

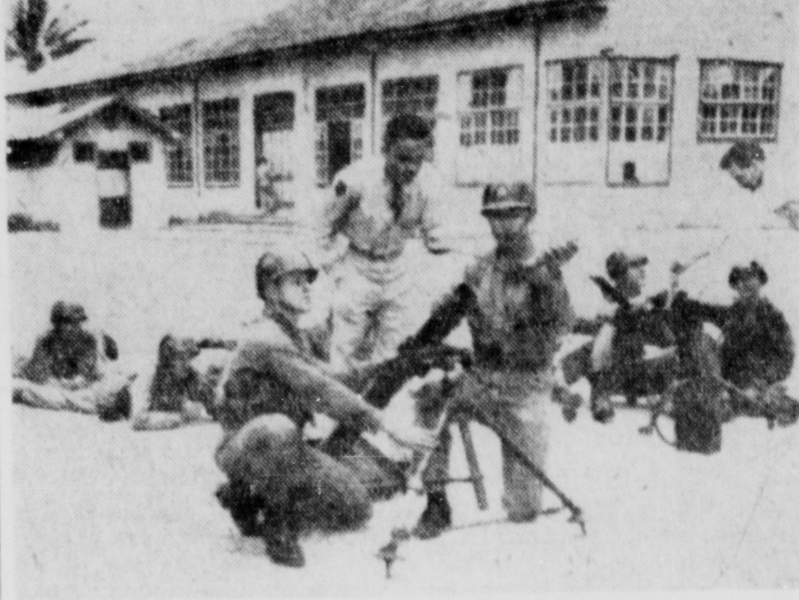

At the start, the above-ground building will be a one-story, 90-foot long structure with a tower and an overhead passageway connecting to the bank's existing building at the second floor level. Six teller windows will be in the structure. Later plans call for the above-ground structure to be four story in height.

A full basement will be provided to contain offices. Excavation for the basement has already begun, according to Byron Dunn, president.

Dunn said bank customers will be able to drive in from P Street, stop at one of the six teller stations, circle the island-type building and drive out onto P again. He estimated the system could handle 1,000 to 1,200 cars during normal banking hours.

In addition to the overhead passageway, the building will be connected to the main building by a suction tube system.

ROBERT R. MOODIE

R. R. Moodie Joins Treasury In Legal Post

Lincoln Star Special
WASHINGTON—The U.S. Treasury Department Thursday announced the appointment of Robert R. Moodie, 56, of West Point, Neb., as assistant head of the legal advisory staff under Laurence Williams, formerly of Omaha, who is an assistant to the Secretary and also head of the legal advisory staff.

Moodie, a West Point attorney, is a former president of the Nebraska State Bar Association and presently is chairman of that association's section of taxation. He was graduated from the University of Nebraska Law School in 1920, and since has been engaged continuously in the practice of law at West Point.

His new duties will include review of federal tax regulations which require approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, and preparation of analyses and drafting of reports concerning tax rulings and tax legislation.

'Confident of Service'
In a letter to Moodie, Williams said: "It is a great pleasure to announce your appointment to this key post on my staff. You have agreed to accept the appointment at great financial and personal sacrifice. I am confident you will render a great service to the government and the taxpayers of this country in this important position."

Moodie, presently engaged in law practice with his brother, P. M. Moodie, and his son, Robert D. Moodie, served as county attorney of Cuming County for 10 years. A member of The Lincoln Star editorial staff while attending the University of Nebraska, Moodie was a member of Delta Upsilon and Phi Delta Phi fraternities. He is a member of the Sesostria Temple, Shrine, Lincoln.

He and his wife, the former Clara Dickerson, have two daughters, Mrs. E. H. Wood and Elizabeth Moodie, both of Hastings, and a son, Robert D. of West Point.

Butler Offers A Smear Exhibit

Feud Of Rival Chairmen Is Given Nudge

By WILLIAM THEIS
WASHINGTON (INS)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler invited GOP Chairman Leonard W. Hall Wednesday to inspect a "chamber of smears" which Butler said demonstrates how Vice President Nixon "maligned and slandered" Democrats.

The invitation was extended in an open letter from Butler to Hall.

It was made public shortly after President Eisenhower, at his news conference, staunchly defended Nixon and declared he could not believe that the Vice President had been guilty of "smear" tactics.

Butler's action stemmed from Hall's charge that the Democrats had launched a campaign to smear Nixon by "falsely accusing" him of smearing others.

'Be My Guest'
In his letter, the Democratic chairman said:

"I would like you to be my guest at the Democratic National Committee so that I can show you a visual exhibit which vividly portrays the wide scope and cynical viciousness of the smear efforts conducted by the Republicans at every level of political organization and responsibility. I am sure it will shock you as much as it has shocked me."

"This exhibit, known as the Chamber of Smears, was compiled from Republican propaganda used in many different states. It also includes smear recordings put out by the Republican Campaign Committee, which we shall be glad to play for you."

Hall Replies
Hall issued this brief statement in answer to Butler:

"Typical of Mr. Butler's letter is his tactic of again offering as 'proof' a purported quotation which the Associated Press, the original source of the error, later repudiated."

"If the day come when Mr. Butler is engaged in more constructive matters than participating in a highly and untruthful campaign of personal abuse and vilification against the vice president of the United States, I will be glad to exchange letters or visits with him."

Butler cited the following instances of alleged "smears":

A charge he attributed to Nixon that a Democratic congress would be dominated by a "left-wing" clique, "notoriously soft on the Communist threat at home."

A Los Angeles speech on Oct. 13, 1954, in which Butler asserted Nixon declared: "When the Eisenhower administration came to Washington on Jan. 20, 1953, we found in the files a blueprint for socializing America."

News reports of a speech at Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 24, 1953, in which Nixon was quoted as saying that if a Congress of Adlai E. Stevenson's choosing were elected "the security risks which have been fired by the Eisenhower administration will all be hired back again."

Butler said that Nixon claimed to have facts to back up his claims, but that "he has so far not produced any facts or figures to show that any Communists have been found and kicked out by the government."

Earth Tremor Felt In Omaha
OMAHA (AP)—A slight earth tremor was reported in Omaha Wednesday.

City Sanitation Regulation Engineer Herbert Ulrich noted the tremor. He said it occurred at 1:05 p.m. and lasted from six to eight seconds.

He said he recognized the tremor from similar previous experiences in Western Nebraska.

Woman Turns Self In To Face Check Charges
Police work was made easy Wednesday night when a comely 21-year-old blond turned herself in for writing more than $100 in no-account checks.

The young woman who was booked and held over night, called police shortly before 6 p.m. and told them to pick her up on a certain corner near the downtown area.

Capt. Orrin Graves, commanding officer in charge, said such things happen occasionally. He said the blond only recently had returned from Denver and turned herself in shortly after she arrived.

Complaints had been filed against her with the county attorney.

Just Wanted To Test His Anti-Freeze
The third time was a charm for a frequent guest of the Police Department when he turned himself in for a drunk and was booked on that charge.

Twice before the department had declined his offer. But after a liquor store owner tossed him in a snow bank when he feigned a fainting spell, he was booked to him out of trouble.

Besides, it's warmer in the police station.

Star Drawing

Brrrr—Says Weatherman

For residents of eastern Nebraska that dreaded day has arrived. Early Thursday morning the temperatures are not expected to be just cold—they'll plummet to the zero mark.

At 2:30 a.m. the Lincoln temperature was 12 degrees, where it had been for a couple of hours after hitting a mark of 11 before midnight. Grand Island had a 5 below reading, North Platte was -3, McCook 6, and Gering 8.

And it won't be exactly torrid later in the day. The Thursday high will be between 10 and 20 degrees, the forecaster says.

The western part of the state will fare a little better, the rain-or-shine man said. Temperatures in that region will be about 10 degrees higher Thursday than in the east.

Thursday night, happily, the clouds will move in and it will warm up, the weather man said as he fastened his parka.

—Peiping Mission—

U.N. Chief Victory Is Hinted

Dag's Aid Urges 'Little More Patience' By Yanks' Families

HONOLULU (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold, refreshed by a swim in Hawaiian waters and wearing a bit of sunburn, Wednesday night resumed the homeward flight from his Peiping mission to free 11 American airmen.

The U.N. secretary general left in a big Air Force Constellation. The plane had been scheduled to land at Travis Air Force Base northeast of San Francisco but officers said there it would be diverted to Stead Air Force Base near Reno because of expected fog conditions in California.

Signs mounted that Hammarskjold's mission to Red China was not in vain.

While the United Nations secretary general remained silent, a personal aid Per Lin, told reporters in Tokyo that the families of 11 U. S. fliers jailed as "spies" must "have a little more patience."

And in London, the British Foreign Office endorsed a U.N. spokesman's statement that Hammarskjold had not failed in his talks with Premier Chou En-lai of Red China.

In response to reporters questions in Honolulu, Hammarskjold said that this was "not the time or place" to comment on his mission for a "fairly obvious" reason.

Not Definite
That reason is that he will make no statement until his report to the United Nations General Assembly, which sent him to Peiping, possibly later this week. Hammarskjold told reporters, however, he had not yet set any definite time for making the report.

Hammarskjold declined all comment to reporters on his one-hour stopover in Tokyo, just as he did when he left Hong Kong Tuesday.

Lind said in Tokyo any statement made now about the 11 fliers and other U.N. prisoners held by the Communists in China "might not be in their (the prisoners') best interests."

Hammarskjold is due in New York Thursday.

Juvenile Committee OKs Adding Judge

Lincoln, Omaha Would Elect New Juvenile Judge To District Bench

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

A group of citizens meeting with representatives of the city's Juvenile Crime Prevention Committee has given approval to a proposed bill for the State Legislature increasing the number of District Court Judges in Lancaster and Douglas Counties.

One judge would be added in each county, and he would be elected for the juvenile court division.

The bill was drafted by Attorney Ed Dosek, a member of the Crime Prevention Committee. Dr. Frank Court, chairman of the committee, will discuss the proposed legislation with interested Douglas County officials on Thursday.

If Douglas officials agree, the bill will then be presented for introduction to the Legislature by senators from the Lancaster County legislative districts.

Would Total 5 Here

The proposal increases the number of District Court Judges in Douglas County from nine to 10 and from four to five in Lancaster County. One of the judges would have been elected after running on the ballot for "District Court Judge, juvenile division."

The bill provides that this judge shall handle all juvenile cases and that the juvenile work shall take precedence over all other court work for this judge.

Presently, the juvenile court judge is selected by other District Court judges after election under the general designation.

The group expressed the feeling that the bill would give the juvenile judge a greater responsibility for performing that work.

Report On Reading

The group also heard a report from the special committee appointed at the last meeting, chaired by Charles Dalrymple, chairman, the report stated that there are active and effective programs in regard to the promotion of good reading among children.

The report stated there was insufficient information available for a valid interpretation of current conditions and self-disciplinary action relative to literature available to children, particularly comic books.

It was suggested by the special committee that the job of policing various news stands and other sources of reading materials for children be given to another committee established for that specific purpose.

Support Paper's Proposal

A report was also made at the meeting by Gil Savory, pledging the support of The Sunday Journal and Star in any undertaking to promote good reading habits. This report suggested, among other things, that one plan of action might be to review the type and amount of literature for children available at various sources such as the schools, libraries and civic centers.

It was stated in the report that series of articles and pictures could be used in The Sunday Journal and Star to promote development of a good source of literary supply and to stimulate an interest in the program on the part of both adults and children.

This was the second meeting called in accordance with a resolution passed by the City Council directing that a study be made of the comic book situation in Lincoln. The Juvenile Crime Prevention Committee, in cooperation with other city organizations, was charged with making this study and recommendations for future action.

Teachers Pay Is Up $10-20 A Month Here

Average salaries for Lancaster County teachers have increased $10 to $20 this school year.

County Superintendent Glenn Turner has released a table comparing monthly average salaries on a nine-month basis for 1953-54 and 1954-55 school years for all county teachers outside of Lincoln.

Superintendents and vocational agriculture or home economics instructors were not included.

Average salary for the 86 elementary teachers in Class 1 districts (eight grade rural schools) is $239.22 for 1954-55 as compared with $229.74 for the 1953-54 school year. Salary range this year is $325 to $185.

Thirty-three elementary teachers in high school districts (Class 2) have an average salary of $258.89 this year as compared with $245.10 for the previous year. This year's range is $311.10 to $220.

The 34 high school teachers in the high school districts (Class 2 and 6) receive an average $357.34 salary this year compared with $338.89 last year. Range is $455.56 to $288.89.

Airliner And DC3 Collide; 15 Are Dead

CINCINNATI (INS) — A Trans World airliner and a privately-owned DC3 collided in flight Wednesday near the Greater Cincinnati airport and crashed in flames, killing 15 persons.

The planes came down in huge orange balls of flame just two minutes after the twin-engine airliner had taken off in a freezing drizzle.

Ten of the victims were passengers aboard the ill-fated TWA craft. Virtually all were burned beyond recognition.

Also killed were the three crewmen aboard the TWA plane and both occupants of the private plane. The latter were identified as Arthur (Slim) Werkhaven and Eddie Agner, both of Sturgis, Mich.

The planes crashed about a mile and a half apart, one landing in a wooded area west of Hebron, Ky., just across the river from Cincinnati, and the other south of Hebron in a farm meadow.

The TWA ship, which had a seating capacity of 40, was bound from Cincinnati to Cleveland via Dayton. The private plane, owned by the National Carbon Coated Paper Co., of Sturgis, Mich., was en route from Battle Creek to Lexington, Ky., to pick up Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Van Lennep, wealthy Detroit race horse owners.

TWA officials said the crash was the first domestic fatality for the line since 1944.

News Around The Globe

Ship Fire Denied

LONDON (Thursday) (INS) — United States authorities at Taipei were quoted early today as denying reports that an American warship had fired on Red Chinese planes.

Reuters news agency quoted Nationalist Chinese correspondents as saying an American destroyer had joined Nationalist ships in firing on Chinese Communist airplanes. There was no official confirmation of the report, and U.S. authorities denied an American warship had engaged Communist aircraft.

Road Advisory Board Would Be Abolished

Abolishment of the State Highway Advisory Commission is proposed in a bill introduced in the Legislature Wednesday by Sen. John Aufenkamp of Julian.

The seven member board was created at the last session and has been in existence only since the fall of 1953. Aufenkamp says the commission "doesn't do any good" and "just causes confusion."

The commission has been deadlocked with State Engineer L. N. Rens over highway re-location problems.

While Aufenkamp proposed to abolish an existing board, Sen. Charles Tvedrik, Omaha, proposed establishment of a new one. He offered a bill to create a five member board of public accountants.

Sen. Glenn Cramer, Albion, offered a bill to submit a constitutional amendment that would place lines from the 12 truck weighing stations in the school fund for distribution to all counties. At present they go to the schools of the county in which the scales are located.

Procedure for observation, treatment, hospitalization and release of sex deviates is provided in a bill introduced by Sen. W. A. Henry of Nelson. A companion measure provides penalties for debauching a boy or girl under 21 years of age.

Sen. Robert Perry of Lincoln offered a bill to regulate the sale of mixed fertilizer.

Schoeneman, 65, Washington, D.C., headed the old Internal Revenue Bureau at the time Finnegan was collector in St. Louis.

Wife Swapping How a Shocking New Game Is Played Coast to Coast

"Bored with bridge and charades?"
"Don't feel like watching TV?"

"In recent months, newspaper stories have hinted strongly at a growing interest, particularly among America's 'country-club set,' in a new form of entertainment."

"For want of a more gracious name, it is usually called 'wife-swapping.' Occasionally, you hear it referred to as 'keys.' In midwest small towns there's a version known as 'under the rug parties.' Whatever name it goes by, it has one basic rule: Don't spend the night with your own wife."

"Its very nature, of course, makes it difficult to track down information about the 'game.' Details, made public, could wreck the lives of those who indulge in the pastime. Marriage counselors, ministers and others who deal with marital problems admit they hear mostly just hints and rumors of it. It is not to be confused with a situation in which two couples, who have been friends for years, get divorced and then exchange spouses. Usually, such a swap is permanent, and satisfactory to everyone, and all four people involved continue to be good friends."

"The new version is a cold-blooded, premeditated exchange of partners which makes sex a sort of parlor game. The guests understand that the 'game' is 'strictly for laughs' and that it is for one night only. It appears to resemble in some ways the feast-day custom of an African tribe which calls for married couples to gather in a darkened hut, then wander aimlessly around until husbands and wives are well separated. Each man then grabs the woman nearest him, and they depart for a night of romance."

"Although the game has regional variations, the version known as 'keys'—which has cropped up all the way from Amesbury, Massachusetts, and Washington, D. C., to Tucson, Arizona—gives the general idea. In this, a half dozen or more couples gather in someone's living room, chat a while and have a few drinks. After everyone is feeling pleasantly mellow and relaxed," continued on page 30 of Pageant, February issue, on your newsstand now!

This shocking story about the rules and conditions for wife-swapping is just one of the 26 dynamic and fascinating features of the February Pageant, including the never-before-published breaking photo report of an actual murder trial; plus such compelling articles as Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's "How To Begin And End A Day Calmly." President Backs Stassen On His Decision To Hire Ladejinsky

... Action, However, To Be FOA Boss' Responsibility

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower upheld Wednesday the right of officials to reach conflicting decisions in the Wolf Ladejinsky case—a case in which he said he himself has formed no judgment.

Eisenhower also told a news conference that without inquiring into all the circumstances or studying the other side of the question, he once remarked to Secretary of Agriculture Benson that a summary of the case would scare him—the President.

Yet he said he would uphold the right of Harold E. Stassen, foreign operations administrator, to hire Ladejinsky after Benson turned him down as a security risk. Stassen, he said, will be held responsible if his judgment turns out to be wrong.

Ladejinsky is a 55-year-old Russian who became a naturalized American. He was cleared for security by the State Department and served as U. S. agricultural attache in Tokyo. When agricultural attache were shifted to the Department of Agriculture, Benson ousted Ladejinsky on security and technical grounds.

In the midst of a lively row over the case that reached into Congress, Stassen took on Ladejinsky for a land reform assignment in Viet Nam.

Honest Men Differ
The chief executive said this was a case in which honest men came up with different answers.

This was the first White House news conference since mid-December. Dressed in gray—suit, shirt, tie—Eisenhower walked briskly into the meeting room three minutes late. He had a Happy New Year for reporters and word that there would be nothing to say about trouble in Costa Rica until a commission of the Organization of American States completes an investigation and makes a report.

In response to half an hour of questioning, the President also said that:

Believes In Nixon
1. He admires Vice President Nixon, whose 1954 campaign tactics are under Democratic attack, and said he believes in his loyalty and patriotism. He said he realized that words used in the heat of a campaign, particularly if taken out of context, possibly can be made the target of legitimate criticism. But he said Nixon had assured him time and again that the vice president never condemned the entire Democratic party, although he had talked about individual loyalty cases and questioned the judgment of Democrats in handling them.

2. Normally Eisenhower wouldn't contemplate using tactical atomic weapons, in the event a friendly nation agreed, for American help in putting down some difficulty, such as rebellion or subversion, that didn't involve major outside interference. Probably light air or fleet Marine units would be employed, he said.

3. He understands that time and again the courts have upheld the right of newsmen to withhold their sources of information. But he said he knew nothing and had no comment on a proposal by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee to compel reporters to disclose their sources when they are summoned before congressional committees as witnesses.

Ladejinsky In Spotlight
Mostly this was Ladejinsky day at the news conference.

The President said no specific new steps are being taken to improve the government's security program as a result of a situation in which Ladejinsky was cleared by State, turned down by Agriculture, and hired by FOA. He said the system isn't perfect, but constant efforts are being made to improve it and a special unit has been set up in the Justice Department to advise on that.

The matter is a delicate one, the President said, and the judgments of honest and sincere people will differ.

At this time, he said, he doesn't see how appointment of a special commission of private citizens would be helpful in improving the program.

Eisenhower was asked how the State Department and FOA could clear Ladejinsky when Secretary Benson had "branded" the man as a former member of two Communist front organizations, and as an economist, analyst and investigator for Amtorg, the Russian trading agency. Ladejinsky has denied he belonged to any Red fronts and said his Amtorg post was just a job.

The President said that honest men obviously had reached different answers, that one unquestionably attached more importance than others to past associations, particularly with Amtorg. He said he believed Ladejinsky had written a book condemning communism, so there is a nice balance in the case.

At the time Benson read him a summary of the case, he said he didn't think he knew of the book and that he believed the State and Agriculture Departments both felt the same way.

Eisenhower said he hadn't gone into the details of this or other similar cases. It would break the back of any man in his position to do so, he said, since they come up every day.

Ike, Winnie London Parley Possible, Newspaper Says

LONDON (INS)—The London Evening News declared Wednesday that President Eisenhower may meet with British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill in London early next month.

The newspaper said the President would meet with Churchill after the commonwealth premiers' conference, beginning Jan. 31 to co-ordinate commonwealth and American world policies.

The two leaders would discuss policy with regard to East-West relations along the course of informal phone talks held before Christmas.

The newspaper also reported that Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru hoped to meet President Eisenhower in London.

They said they are ready to go into court to meet the attempt of the girl's mother, Mrs. Lorraine L. Cunningham of Oro Grande, to invalidate the marriage.

When the child bride heard of her mother's attempt at annulment, Judy said:

"This is awful. We can't afford to separate. You see, the icebox is full of groceries."

What have Good Neighbors Colorado and Ohio got that Nebraska has not? In committee assignments in reorganization of the 84th Congress, the two have senators who achieved assignment to major Senate committees—something which did not fall to the good fortune of either Sen. Carl Curtis or Sen. Roman Hruska. The Nebraskans, expressing their own special preferences for committee assignment, got what was left—which Doris Fleson on this page suggests were assignments to committees which those who know their way around Washington liked least.

It wasn't that the Nebraskans did not try. They did their durnedest. After 16 years in the House, Mr. Curtis had some reason to anticipate that his voice might be heard. He even went to the bother of being sworn in a few hours earlier than the other members of the freshman class, with short-term senator Mrs. Hazel Abel graciously making it possible for him to take his seat ahead of the others. But the fact is that Senate Republicans had fewer Senate committee plums to distribute, with no vacancies in the choice assignments, if it is of any importance.

Its importance is measured by the fact that the conservative Republicans—we had assumed on the basis of his own definition Mr. Curtis rated to be included in the ranks—remain in charge of the working committees.

That is not exactly the happiest of happy situations. There is the consoling thought that it will all come out in the wash, one way and another.

It Just Isn't So

January 12, 1888, was a long time ago. But it was as yesterday to most who were alive on that day and have lived to look back upon it as the most unforgettable day of their existence. They remember it as the blizzard of '88—the day that started out so blandly and then turned without warning into the most deadly, terrifying and painful storm of their lives.

We take their word for it. Cynics may raise their eyebrows over the stories of death and hardship. But a storm so deadly that it becomes a point of historical reference for all who experienced it for all the remaining days of their lives is one that transcends word description. It was all they have said it was—probably much more.

The blizzard of '88 has become a Middle Western yardstick—a piece of star testimony that the region is one of violent and dangerous weather—a champion of foul weather among other regions of calm and security.

In that respect we beg to differ. The Middle West is victim of a universal misconception. Its storms are not greater, more frequent, more deadly or damaging or more disagreeable than anywhere else. If the record is studied it is, indeed, one of the more benign areas.

The blizzard of '88 was not a Middle West show. Its violence was felt throughout most of the northern states.

It was a general storm. The tail of it devastated New York City, causing untold hardship and death. It laid its icy and destructive hand on city and countryside alike.

As to other great storms, it is interesting to note that in this section there have been but five blizzards since 1873 deemed worthy of a permanent historic record. In that 82-year period there have been but three of the transcendent kind—the one of 1873, the one of 1888 and the one of 1949, best remembered as "Operation Snowboard."

A storm every quarter of a century or so that can qualify as a major disaster is in contrast to three hurricanes of equal or greater consequences sweeping the Atlantic coast in a year.

Without question the least of those hurricanes caused as much death and destruction as all the dreaded tornadoes twisting through the Middle West during the same year—probably a great deal more.

A reputation for violence does not hurt one so long as the violence is largely a fiction and the Middle West thrives despite its weather reputation for that reason. But a reputation ought to be based on fact and the fact is the Middle West has a good, benign climate—as good as any and better than most.

It all reminds us of what Mark Twain once said. "It isn't that the American people don't know anything. It is that they know so much that isn't so."

Recently the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce gave to the nation what it considered were the top 10 young men of 1954.

From their pictures they impressed one as a prime group of hard-hitting junior executives—very definitely tomorrow's business leaders to-day.

How wrong can one be!

Significantly or not, there was not one representative from business on the list. The group included a test pilot, a metallurgist, an archeologist, a physician dedicated to public welfare, a college president, an artist, a lieutenant governor and an attorney specializing in counseling on foreign relations.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce does not limit its membership to young men in business. It attracts those from all walks of life who have the added interest of a community-serving citizen. But it naturally draws a heavy membership from general business because that is where most of the young men are. And certainly there are young business men who have distinguished themselves in their field and in the realm of public service, too. But none was included in the 1954 selections.

Perhaps it was just a coincidence. But perhaps also the American yardstick is changing. It will be interesting to study the 1955 selections 12 months hence.

Too Much of One Thing

Like a cat with nine lives, the case of the Army and Irving Peress keeps coming back.

It does not deserve such attention.

Irving Peress was an Army dentist. He became a cause celebre when he invoked the Fifth Amendment and refused to fulfill an Army questionnaire inquiring into servicemen's attitude or possible connection with Communism and Communist activity. While that phase of his career was being given the loud treatment by the McCarthy investigators, another part of the Army, a department that moves by precedent and a numbers system, improved his rank. In due time the Army caught up with itself and a military board brought the loose and divergent ends together by issuing Peress an honorable discharge. It solved the Army's problem by removing it.

There may be something further to do in the Peress matter, but certainly it is not in the line of name calling with the Army. Peress is not in service any more and is in no position to subvert the military if indeed it was ever his intention to do so. If the FBI and the Department of Justice have enough evidence to justify suspicion, it is their business to take it from here, ultimately clearing or convicting him. As for the political implications, the country's attention should be allowed to turn to a more substantial subject.

Tax Scandals May Force New Probe

WASHINGTON — Some interesting things are going on inside the Internal Revenue Bureau which may merit another congressional probe of how the nation's taxes are collected.

The closing days of the Truman administration were highlighted by serious tax scandals first revealed in this column — which led to the resignations of Commissioner George Schoeneman and Counselor Charles Oliphant; plus the prosecution of an earlier commissioner and assistant — Joe Nunan and Dan Bolch.

These tax scandals supplied Republican campaigners with some of their potent political ammunition, and it was presumed that when they took over internal revenue, it would be run with Old Dutch cleanser spotlessness.

However, politics seems to have crept back into the tax-collecting agency.

This column has already reported how Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, after entertaining Sen. McCarthy in his home in Richmond, Va., and introducing him to a local audience as one of "our greatest living Americans," assigned a run-of-the-mine agent to the job of scrutinizing McCarthy's tax returns. McCarthy has had to pay extra taxes to the State of Wisconsin. The Senate investigating committee also found him using money received to fight Communism to speculate on the soybean market. But Commissioner Andrews has taken no public action.

On top of this, here is the latest political development inside the agency.

NATION'S NO. 1 HEEL

When T. Coleman Andrews took over tax collecting, one of the hottest cases he inherited involved a top Republican leader in West Virginia, R. J. Funkhouser, manufacturer of O'Sullivan heels, sometimes referred to as "America's No. 1 Heel." John Dunlap, career agent whom President Truman appointed commissioner to clean up internal revenue, not only was preparing a case against Funkhouser but was checking transfers of funds to South America because of rumors Funkhouser planned to leave the U.S.A.

Today, however, the tax case against the O'Sullivan heel manufacturer has been virtually put on the shelf. The agent who was handling it was called off and promoted. While he was off the case, Commissioner Andrews' office settled cases against three of Funkhouser's top executives implicated in making kickbacks to him.

Meanwhile, another tax case against a neighboring political leader, E. Brooke Lee, previously settled, was reported. Lee is one of the leading Democrats of Maryland. Funkhouser is one of the leading Republicans of West Virginia.

In Lee's case, H. O. Bryant, review officer of the Internal Revenue criminal section, had previously ruled that no fraud was involved, and a civil adjustment was made. Lee had been charged with taking a capital-gains tax on the sale of undeveloped real estate instead of paying a straight income tax during the years 1947, '48 and '49.

Bryant ruled in 1952 that "there remained no question of fraud or concealed income," and the case was considered closed. Now it has been reopened, and the Justice Department is pushing for a criminal indictment.

NOTE—The Justice Department is now reported checking on every big Democratic campaign contributor. E. Brooke Lee, whose tax case has been reopened, raised $15,000 for the Stevenson campaign and its deficit; also contributed heavily to the recent Curley Byrd campaign for governor. His great grandfather, who built Blair House, occupied by Harry Truman as a temporary White House, operated Andrew Jackson's newspaper mouthpiece, the Washington Globe. The Lee-Blair families have been active in Democratic politics in Maryland ever since.

NEW LADY IN CONGRESS

About a year ago Oregon's Independent-Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon confided to his friend, John McCormack, now the majority leader of the House of Representatives: "I'm from a normally Republican state, but there's one Democrat who can win out there in the next election."

"His name is Richard Neuberger," he's thinking about running for the Senate, and if he runs he'll win, mark my words."

Claiborne Morse, a former Republican, was only half right. Thanks partly to his own campaigning, not one, but two Democrats were elected from Oregon. The other, besides Sen. Neuberger, is Edith Green, the first woman in history to be elected to Congress from Oregon.

POST OFFICE TYCOONS

When industrial tycoon Charles R. Hook, Sr., came to Washington to accept a wartime, $1-a-year job under President Roosevelt, he didn't realize that he was signing a long-time contract that would extend into the administration of President Eisenhower.

Hook is still here — after an interlude of various posts with the government — and still giving generously of this time and talents as chairman of a Hoover Commission "task force" which is streamlining the defense department.

What's more, he has a chip-off-the-block son, Charles R. Hook, Jr., who has been doing a great job as deputy postmaster general. Young Hook, a pipe-smoking, 40-year-old Yale man, has the same dedicated approach to public service as his famous father.

He gave up a higher salary as vice president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway to accept the post office job in January 1953, but has no regrets.

"It makes my face red to think of how little I knew about government service at the time," Hook admits with a grin. "However if there were any misgivings in my mind when the offer came, my dad had other ideas. He advised me to take the job."

"I've learned a lot in two years. One thing I've learned is that government officials are not all politicians, as many businessmen seem to think. Government is a business and it will be a successful business only if all of us — citizens in all walks of life — accept the responsibility for making it succeed."

Seniority Rules GOP Assignments

WASHINGTON — The Senate Republican minority held strictly to the letter of the law of seniority in its assignments to the standing committees which are the stepping stones to legislative power. The result is the GOP right wing preponderance is further strengthened in the upper chamber.

It meant also that only two out of seven freshmen Republicans—George Bender of Ohio and Gordon Allott of Colorado—achieved a major committee. This is in contrast to the majority pattern where seniority was modified to give every Democrat at least one major assignment.

Senators Bender and Allott were put on the Labor and Public Welfare Committee. It is decidedly major but very often shunned as a place where neither labor nor capital will allow you to take a middle ground. Hence it is usually sought only by senators who do not mind being stamped as an advocate for one side and being damned by the other.

It is said that Sen. Bender, who is filling out the late Sen. Taft's unexpired term of two years is none too happy over landing on Labor. He has already heard dependably that the vote-getting, lone wolf Democrat of Ohio, Gov. Frank Lausche, who has just begun his fifth term as governor, will run against him in 1956.

In following tradition, the GOP leadership made its most striking 1954 victor—Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey, Eisenhower Republican and McCarthy foe—low man on the totem pole.

It is generally agreed that senators like least the service on the District of Columbia and Post Office and Civil Service Committees. Case is the only Republican freshman on both.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Dusty, The Canine Quiz Queen

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

Dusty, the Lasha terrier owned by Clarence and Donna Johnson of 800 Peach, has a secret.

If you don't go barking it around, here it is.

Dust and Clarence tell each other the answers to the popular television program, "I've Got A Secret."

The long-haired canine with the hair flowing over her eyes perks up as Master Clarence lifts up her ear and whispers an answer. Then the pert pup will give her answer with a nudge of her cold snout in his ear.

Besides their secrets, man and dog are constantly playing other things.

Dusty likes "roll-em." It is a simple game. The dog is rolled across the floor by her master and does she love it. When the little dog tires, she will end her rolling on her back and allow Clarence to scratch her stomach. Man—that is living!

Dusty, or Mopsy as she is sometimes called, loves her master almost too vigorously for the rest of the family.

When Clarence comes home from work at any hour of the night, the reception committee of one is on hand. An like any reception, it is a noisy one. Dusty barks with joy, shattering the quiet of the night.

When the master steps into the house, the dog shadows him until he slips into bed.

The little girl is crazy. Just seeing Clarence or Donna take a coat out of the closet is sufficient to send Dusty bouncing on her legs into the air.

... a noisy receptionist, day or night ...

If Clarence drives away without her, the dog will race to the corner following the car. More than once the car door has opened to allow Dusty in as the master's will power was broken by her insistent barks and soulful eyes.

Then she will jump up atop the back rest of the front seat and stand or lie down with her head lying upon her master's arm that rests upon the open window.

And she will probably ride that way when the Johnsons go to New Mexico in the near future, taking Dusty with them.

Every summer Dusty gets a new look. Only her head and tail escape the barber shears, making the tiny dog look like a lion. But by October, the winter fur is back in place.

It is a good thing the fur has grown back because the dog loves to play in the snow. The Johnsons have decided the recent snow is a grand thing. Now Dusty washes herself off in the snow and comes inside white and clean as a freshly laundered pillowcase.

Rural And Urban

Minden, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: One can pick up most any daily newspaper and often find an article therein claiming that the farmers of the Middle West indicated by their vote in the last election that they were agreeable to the Benson flexible price support plan. I am inclined to dispute this. If my county—Kearney—is a fair example, then the opposite is true.

I have taken the trouble of checking the vote by precincts and have found that if you leave the city of Minden out of the picture, the three Democratic candidates, two for the Senate and one for the House, all received a majority of the votes cast. It was the city of Minden which swung the county majority to the Republican candidates. This together with a Republican majority in two other precincts which have towns of over 300 population clinched it for the Republicans.

Strange as it may seem, here in an area where we have practically no income except from the farm there are those who are still blind to the fact that if the farmers do not prosper, neither can the towns and cities. There are those who, when they see a farmer drive out a new car or take out a new refrigerator, automatic washer, television set or what-have-you, immediately start seeing red spots before their eyes. They have a hard time getting used to the idea that farmers are the same kind of people and are entitled to the same living standards as are town people. Fortunately there are not too many such but they apparently were numerous enough to have changed the results of the election in our county and I am wondering if the same is true in other parts of the Midwest bread-basket.

Ban On Sports Writers

North Platte, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Sports Editor Don Bryant will not like what I am going to say just as we did not like his article of Jan. 5 in The Lincoln Star.

I don't uphold the boys if they didn't try to win, but knowing the Cornhuskers, I couldn't think that of them. Being the mother of one of the boys, I am inclined to disagree with Mr. Bryant wholeheartedly. He hurt a lot of mothers by writing in his column what he did.

I am not condemning him alone, but along with other sports writers he has only made the situation worse. When he writes and condemns football players, he is dragging down the morale of the team. Certainly this kind of publication doesn't help anyone. We saw the game on television. We had three cards from our son while he was in Miami and he wrote how high-spirited, both mentally and physically, the boys were and that they were really going to win this game. Why didn't Mr. Bryant put this into print?

After all, when a boy goes out for football and gives all he has, the public has no right to judge him. I think all sports writers should be banned from writing

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Recently there appeared in one of our top magazines the following paragraph: "Fear is quite visible in Moscow that Red China will drag the Soviet Union into war. The Kremlin hasn't the control over Peking which many think. Red China is more partner than satellite and Moscow seems increasingly skittish of the initiative which Red China takes."

Now, I would be justified in crowing, "I told you so-o-o!" A year or two ago I pointed out in this column that Red China was a segment of Communism entirely separate from Soviet Russia, although Communism was spawned in both nations by the same causes — poverty and the intolerable oppression by certain ruling classes. China, of course, was and is yet dependent on the Soviet bloc for much of its supplies, chiefly war material, but these it is not getting as a gift as is the case with our supposed allies. Now, in view of the prediction Tolstoy, the Russian writer, made years ago that some day the yellow race will overwhelm the white race, I am predicting that sooner or later we shall be seeking alliance with the Soviet bloc in an attempt to form an effective bulwark to stop the yellow onslaught. Crazy! We shall see.

The yellow race far outnumbers us now and is multiplying like insects. And we cannot destroy them without destroying ourselves, too. It is time that we face the issue squarely and stop barking up the wrong tree.

POSTCARD

I imagine the soap opera people wonder how their radio product is doing these days. I am making a survey this morning and will tell them.

This survey comes to me via portable radio. A gift of love to the young lady of 11 years who dials these swoony romances. It is so cute. It is so portable that it can be transported from fireside to cookie jar and back again. Without missing a soapy sigh.

For reasons unknown to me, these children are released from

CAN'T SLEEP Because of Acid Stomach? Do This—

Try this simple modern way to avoid sleepless nights due to excess stomach acid. Just take 1 or 2 Tums as a "nightcap" before you go to bed. Countless thousands who do this have discovered they fall asleep faster—feel much fresher mornings. Always keep Tums handy to counteract sour stomach, gas, heartburn—day or night. Get a roll of Tums right now.

the halls of long division at holiday time. And my home is one bubble of trouble from "Rosemary" (8:45 a.m.) to "Hilltop House" (2:45 p.m.).

"Was I wrong in introducing Paul Jordan to Regina Gale? They were two lonely people. Good heavens, what have I done?" said Our Gal Sunday.

Well, we have just finished the daily episode of "Helen Trent." A millionaire has slipped into the script somewhere. Listener's report follows:

"This Loretta—I think—she ran off with him—I don't know why. She called up Daisy Parker's gossip column so Daisy wrote about their going away party. Their wedding party. So she couldn't face her friends."

"Why couldn't she face her friends?"

"Because they gave her the party and a whole bunch of presents and so she wasn't going to get married."

"I can't think of his name. He was going to marry her but this lady, she told her a whole bunch of lies about her so now he wants a divorce and he wants to marry Helen Trent. And the girl he married—the cousin I think, wants to marry him. And that's as far as we got."

"How about Our Gal Sunday?"

"Our Gal Sunday. Well, there's this man and he claimed... Leslie Norton is his name, and he claimed he was Lord Henry Barefoot's cousin so he gets all his money. But the lawyers haven't checked through yet. So this girl Regina Gale came and Leslie Norton married Cecile and he's going to kill her and blame it on Lord Barefoot and then he'll have his money and her money and Regina Gale spilled some of this deadly poison on Our Gal Sunday's living room and then they're going to this dance. The stepson of Leslie Norton is going with Regina Gale so he plans to kill his wife at the dance."

"The stepson's wife?"

"No Leslie Norton. And Regina Gale and him are gonna plan to get married after that and share the fortune together. And they're gonna blame it on Lord Barefoot."

Oh, it is a tearful world, this portable life of ours. Clouds and silver linings. Flakes of happiness.

"There's this man and he's a teen-ager? And he's accused of running over this man. And this man while he was conscious in the ambulance and he said: 'I heard singing or something.' Then he fell unconscious again and then he died. All the kids in the car—two boys and one girl—and Lonnie was his name—no that's not right. Now Rosemary is trying to find out the real truth. She doesn't think they did it. See?"

"Not exactly."

"Oh, her husband was only a small star but she's going to be a big star. But that's 'Backstage Wife'."

"I beg your pardon?"

"I said 'Next is Ma Perkins.' They're all getting sued in the family by this woman. Laura Pierce is trying to get money to run away."

These are fragmentary reports, gentlemen. But that is the way they come to me. In a portable fashion. Trouble fading away as we fade away to the cookie jar. Rising again as we return to the fireside.

I can definitely report that the radio programs are getting steady attention.

The soap product advertised, now that is a different matter. Despite all your radioed grief, I am still having trouble getting your listener to wash behind the listening ears.

ROME (AP)—Two World War II enemies—France and Italy—agreed on a need for wider controls of armaments to insure world peace. A joint statement winding up two days of swiftly paced conferences between France's Pierre Mendes-France and Italian government leaders indicated the French Premier had been successful in winning a friendly Italian reception for his proposed European arms pool.

Agreement also was reached on economic matters, including trade, industrial cooperation and immigration.

The statement drafted by Mendes-France and Italian Premier Mario Scelba said the leaders of the two countries believe the Paris accords on rearming West Germany are a step toward a united Europe and that such accords "contain decisions for the automatic control of armament to insure peace in the world."

Wider Accords

The agreements also should "inspire wider accords which should result in initiative (toward arms control) being taken by friendly countries inside the organization of the United Nations," the communique said.

It added that the ministers agreed also on the opportunity of examining, also, other measures regarding arms production.

While diplomatically worded, this was an apparent reference to Mendes-France's plan. A reliable source called the Italian attitude "agreement in principle," but cautioned that only the rough plan exists, without details, and there might be hitches.

Experts will meet in Paris Jan.

17 to refine the proposal. Mendes-France considers his project a means of preventing West Germany from over-arming within the Western European Union, now in the process of ratification.

Other Fields

The French leader's plan calls for production and distribution of arms for the seven member nations, including France and Italy, to be controlled by an international agency within the WEU. It also includes measures to advance the ideas of greater European cooperation in many other fields.

Closer relations between Italy and France on a wide range of mutual problems were foreseen in the communique as the result of the meeting.

Permanent mixed French-Italian commissions of experts will be set up to expedite the "many different forms of collaboration envisaged by the ministers" of the two Mediterranean neighbors.

Dr. R. A. Sheppard Condition Critical

CLEVELAND (INS)—Dr. Richard A. Sheppard, father of convicted wife-killer Dr. Sam Sheppard, was reported in "critical" condition at the Cleveland Clinic. The 65-year-old osteopath, who is suffering from a severe case of pleurisy, was transferred to the clinic from Bay View Hospital, which he founded, for tests and other treatment not available at the suburban Bay Village hospital.

His wife, Mrs. Ethel Sheppard, was buried Monday, three days after killing herself.

Blizzard Of '88 Recalled By Some 100 Survivors Of Storm

Upward of 100 members of the 1888 Blizzard Club observed the 67th anniversary of the historic storm Wednesday at the YWCA.

The annual event brought the re-election of club officers, returning Oliver T. Hannibal, Omaha, president; C. Smrha, Lincoln, 1st vice president; Irene Kime, 2nd vice president, and Charles Sutherland, secretary-treasurer.

McMullen

A formal program following the annual dinner was headed by former Governor Adam McMullen, Beatrice, who drew from his recollections of the Jan. 12 blizzard as a Wymore school boy to give a vivid picture of the storm and to reflect the experiences of its numerous survivors.

"The fortitude of those hardy Nebraskans in the face of the great hardships of that blizzard," he said, "revealed the character of the pioneer generation—the people who came to this new state and built it from an unpromising prairie the prosperous, happy and beautiful land that it is today."

"There was death and hardship beyond expression during that 1888 storm," McMullen said. "But it

March Draft Set At 11,000

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Defense Department requested the Selective Services System to furnish 11,000 draftees for the Army in March—the second cut made under the administration's manpower reduction program.

The draft quota, pared from 23,000 in January, is the same as was previously announced for February. The department expects to continue the draft at 11,000 a month at least until June.

The March call will bring the total number of youths drafted since the beginning of the Korean War to 1,869,430.

tested the metal of the people and found them strong and true. That was the good news that emerged from all of the bad which attended that day."

Other speakers included Dr. James C. Olson, superintendent of the Nebraska State Historical Society, who spoke on "Our Pioneer Women," and Dr. J. C. Jensen who discussed "The Science of the Blizzard."

Other members briefly gave interesting experiences connected with the blizzard and the club paid tribute to 10 members who died during 1954.

with a mixture of hope, and anxiety, the news that the airmen may still be alive.

John H. Noble, recently released from prison by the Russians, said he had heard that eight of the 10 crew members aboard the Navy Plane may still be alive in Soviet prison camps. The Navy had declared the 10 legally dead a year after the shooting.

The wives of Joseph H. Danens Jr. and Jack Thomas, two of the four married crew members aboard the plane, have remarried.

"I hope to God they're alive and will be released and will be healed," Mrs. Ruth Miney, who was married to Danens, said when reached at her parents' home in Passaic, N. J.

Mrs. Miney married Robert Miney, a chief petty officer in the Navy, now stationed at Westover Air Force Base, Chicopee, Mass., on July 26, 1952.

'I've Remarried'

She added that "there's nothing we can say or do until we know officially whether he's alive or not. But I've remarried and I am married now and that's all there is to it." They have no children.

Thomas was married to the former Lacy McCord, an employee of the Rhode Island State Infirmary at Howard, R. I. Mrs. Thomas married Robert Hayes, a high school music supervisor of Castle-ton-On-Hudson on Sept. 20, 1952.

Reached at their home, both Mr. and Mrs. Hayes said they knew nothing more about the case than what they had read in the newspapers or heard on the radio. They have a son, Robert Jr., who celebrated his first birthday a week ago.

Mrs. Hayes said the first news left her "slightly bewildered . . . after the crash and for many months thereafter, I hounded the Navy, the government, everybody for some definite news about the crash and my husband. They finally declared him legally dead.

"I had no doubts in my mind when I married Robert." She continued that she had "no plans." Her present husband said "I'm a Catholic and we were married in church. They checked all the records and cleared us as okay. I don't know what we'll do —just wait and see."

Commonwealth Closes With Gain

Stockholders were told at the annual meeting that The Commonwealth Company closed 1954 with assets of $2,557,347.42.

This compares with $2,118,977.90 in assets at the close of the previous year.

Certificates and savings were $2,102,514.74 compared to $1,798,843.20 the year before. Loans last year were $2,037,051.13, an increase of $514,882.55 above the 1953 year-end total of $1,523,168.58.

Jury Clears Hormel Of Dope Charge

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Meat packing heir George A. (Geordie) Hormel II was acquitted by a Superior Court jury Wednesday of a marijuana possession charge.

A jury of nine women and two men deliberated four and one-half hours before finding the 26-year-old, piano-playing heir to meat packing millions innocent of hiding 13 marijuana cigarettes behind the sun visor of his car.

The verdict was greeted by applause and cheers from the crowded courtroom. Superior Judge Charles Fricke thanked the jurors, asked them to leave and then declared that the cheering was a "disgrace" in court.

Hormel's mother, who had collapsed twice since the trial began Jan. 9, broke into tears of joy. Hormel embraced her and accepted slaps on the back from a circle of friends, declaring:

"I am grateful to be acquitted. I am grateful to my attorneys—they have been better than the best. I am grateful to the jury for its unprejudiced decision. "I am grateful to my mother and my family for sticking by me. They have been hurt more than I was. I am the man who dared to stand up and tell the truth."

The young exponent of progressive jazz also thanked the press for treating him "more than fairly" and added:

"There are many facts which have been suppressed up to now, and when they are brought to light, there will be no doubt as to the validity of my previous assertions."

During his trial, Hormel charged that he had been "framed" on the narcotics possession charge by a member of his nightclub orchestra, Robert (Iggy) Shevak, 35.

Hormel said Shevak "planted" the marijuana cigarettes in the heir's car, where police said they were found when Hormel was arrested last Sept. 19.

Shevak admitted from the witness stand that he had telephoned police officer John O'Grady an hour before Hormel was arrested. O'Grady admitted that he had used Shevak, who faces another narcotics charge, in efforts to trap peddlers, but he denied that they "set up" the arrest of Hormel.

Also involved in the case was screen actress Rita Moreno, who was asleep in Hormel's apartment when officers brought the heir there after his arrest. She almost landed in hot water for slapping at a policeman who tried to search her purse.

No charges were filed, however, and she appeared at the trial only long enough to testify that she, herself, had never smoked marijuana.

WILBUR

Agency Fills 85,000 Jobs

The Nebraska State Employment Service, one of the two major activities administered by the division of employment security of the State Labor Department, found people to fill 85,165 jobs during 1954, according to a preliminary review of the year's operations issued by the state agency.

The most noteworthy aspect of the year's work was the recruitment of people to fill 30,349 jobs required by the state's agricultural activities. For the past five years a concerted effort has been made to expand the work of the employment service with respect to agricultural work.

In 1954, non-farm placements were 54,816. This is substantially below the 1953 record, caused by a drop in the number of job openings that the industrial employers asked the agency to fill.

More than half of the 1954 non farm placements were made by the division's offices in Lincoln and Omaha. The Omaha office filled 22,060 jobs. Lincoln recorded 8,749 placements.

Surplus Butter Plans Revised

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Agriculture Department Wednesday sharply revised its program for disposing of surplus butter and offered to sell 10 million pounds for export on a free competitive basis.

Under the new program, U.S. exporters would be permitted to purchase the butter from the government for resale abroad.

The new policy scraps a minimum price program for butter sales overseas which has been in effect since last June 25.

The export price floor has been 41 cents a pound for Grade A and 39 cents for Grade B butter. The department noted that since these minimums became effective, it has sold only two million pounds for commercial export.

Wednesday's announcement said the purpose of the new policy is to provide butter at prices which export buyers can pay and thus move the government's huge surplus stocks into world markets. As of Dec. 31, the Commodity Credit Corporation had a supply of 264 million pounds of butter on hand. Officials emphasized that there is "no intention of offering or selling large quantities of butter on any basis that might seriously depress world price levels for butter or disrupt markets for this commodity."

Presumably, a final decision within the administration as to whether to permit butter exports to Communist countries is still under debate at the cabinet level.

Bids for the first 10 million pounds will be accepted beginning Jan. 24 and continue weekly until the first offering is sold or the program is terminated.

Bruce Visits Ike; 'Purely Personal'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador David K. E. Bruce, only top Democrat in the State Department, visited with President Eisenhower at the White House Wednesday.

Bruce told newsmen the visit "was purely personal" and that there was no discussion of government business.

Bruce has been serving as U.S. representative to the six-nation European Coal and Steel Community. He has given up that post and, at the request of Secretary of State Dulles, has agreed to stay on as a consultant on European affairs.

Bruce, a lobbyist to France during the Truman administration, has been trying to resign for the last six months.

In response to questions Wednesday, he said he has agreed to stay in government "for the time being."

Hospitals Call Load Not Serious

While patient load at Lincoln hospitals is reported unusually high, administrators do not currently deem the situation serious.

St. Elizabeth Hospital authorities, reporting 240 patients at present, said extra bed space can be made available in 30 private rooms by making them into multiple bed units.

The hospital's capacity was termed "on the full side" with less than 10 available general patient beds, but additional space could be made available "in an emergency."

Empty beds are available in the hospital's obstetrics and pediatrics wards, but a St. Elizabeth spokesman said general patients are not moved into these isolated wards.

The seasonal situation at all the hospitals is believed caused by surgery delayed until after the holidays and a high number of flu cases.

School of Blind Move Supported By Omaha Group

Copies have been received in Lincoln of resolutions adopted by the Omaha Association of the Blind supporting the plan to move the state school from Nebraska City to Kearney.

"We are convinced that such a move will serve the best interests of the blind children of the state," the resolution read.

The resolution contended that the best interests of the children could be met "by relocating the school near a good progressive college as recommended by the parents of blind children."

Lincoln-Omaha Toll Road Dependent Upon Iowa Turnpike, Engineers Say

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Turnpike Authority was told Wednesday that a toll road in Nebraska between Lincoln and Omaha is feasible only if a turnpike is built in Iowa and that there is little likelihood for such construction before 1959.

The authority heard a report by Sam Brown, representing Coverdale & Colpitts, a New York consulting engineering firm employed by a group of investment bankers.

The report dealt entirely with present and prospective traffic and the amount of income that might be expected. No estimate was given on the probable cost of the construction or whether the income would meet interest costs and retire the bonds.

It was explained that conditions at the time construction was to be started would be the important factor ruling this phase of the proposal.

Raymond E. McGrath, Omaha, chairman of the authority, said following the reading of the report that he believes a turnpike across Nebraska will be feasible. However, he explained that at this time it cannot be determined whether it would be part of the proposed interstate system and a freeway or a toll road.

"There is nowhere near enough traffic between Omaha and Lincoln to support a toll road without all Iowa traffic being funneled in from across the Missouri River," Brown told the authority.

Don Pettis of Kirkpatrick-Pettis, Omaha investment bankers, said the estimated income would support about a $20,000,000 bond issue at the current market. This he estimated would allow between $400,000 and $500,000 a mile for construction.

The study estimated that a net income of $12,758,000 would be obtained the first 10 years of operation. This is on the basis of tolls of 60 cents per passenger car between Lincoln and Omaha. Tolls for trucks would be at a higher rate up to $1.75.

Brown estimated that 72 per cent of the traffic between Lincoln and Omaha would use the toll road "for reasons of time, mileage saving, safety and greater driving pleasure."

The proposed route between the two cities would be 56.2 miles as compared with the present 60.6 miles. There would be two terminal entrances to the turnpike in Omaha, one from the north part of the city and one from the south.

The road would travel in a south-westerly direction east of the present U.S. 6 to Ashland where it would cross the Platte River and the present highway and follow U.S. 6 to north of Lincoln where it would turn west joining U.S. 34 near the Lincoln Air Base.

In addition to the terminal outlet on U.S. 34 there would be a Lincoln outlet on 48th Street. There would be no inter-connection with U.S. 6 at Ashland.

After hearing the feasibility report, the Turnpike Authority decided to ask the Legislature for an appropriation of $150,000 to permit engineering surveys for the proposed route west to North Platte.

The money would be repaid to the state if a toll road is built from a bond issue.

In the report made Wednesday it said: "The feasibility of the proposed Nebraska turnpike is entirely dependent on the Iowa turnpike."

Fairbury-Ruskin Rail Plan Draws Heavy Protest

A flood of letters protesting the proposal of the Rock Island Railroad to reduce service between Fairbury and Ruskin from a daily to a tri-weekly basis was received by the State Railway Commission Wednesday.

The commission previously had listed Thursday as the final date for receiving letters and petitions protesting the move.

Although the Rock Island's proposal would continue service between Fairbury and Beatrice on a daily basis, letters of protest were received from the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce and other Beatrice groups.

The protests contended that the change would hamper switching procedure in Beatrice.

The time and place for a public hearing on the proposal will be set by the commission at a later date.

Omaha Launches Drive To Get More Gas For Allied

Governor Backs Move To Convince FPC Nitrogen Increase Is A 'Must'

OMAHA (AP)—Omaha business and civic leaders, backed by Gov. Victor Anderson, launched a campaign Wednesday afternoon to convince the Federal Power Commission that allocation of more natural gas to Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation's nitrogen plant here is a must.

Natural Gas Co. has applied for permission to allocate 12 million cubic feet of gas daily to the plant, but some utility customers of Northern are fearful it will threaten their own supplies.

Without the guarantee of a firm supply of natural gas—a basic resource—Allied won't be able to go ahead on a proposed 20 million dollar addition to its La Platte, Neb., nitrogen fertilizer plant.

Gov. Anderson was one of the speakers at a luncheon Wednesday in which the problem was laid out and Omahans were urged to "bombard" the power commission with messages of support for the application.

Would Help Ag Economy

Noting that within the last week he had changed his role "from taxpayer to tax eater," Anderson pointed out that in addition to providing more employment and adding new value to the tax rolls, the Allied project would "help our agricultural economy—our biggest industry."

He said he had been asked to go to Washington to speak in behalf of the application, but because it was so early in his administration he felt he should remain in Lincoln and send a telegram instead.

Would Change Plans

However, he said he would be willing to consider a change in plans "if it is felt that I should go."

The governor said he had been assured that Northern Natural Gas Co. "can give gas to Allied without affecting its present facilities."

Mayor John Rosenblatt of Omaha, who recently sparked the successful campaign to bring Triple A baseball to Omaha, called for the same methods in winning power commission approval of the gas allocation. He urged the business men to "bombard" Washington officials with requests for the approval.

"It would be a bad day in the history of this area if officials in Washington were to stop gap this effort to improve the productivity of this part of the United States," Rosenblatt said.

Hugo Riemer, president of Allied's Nitrogen division, explained that while Allied had gambled its original 27½ million dollar investment in the La Platte plant on an "interruptible" supply of gas, from which Allied now is manufacturing ammonia at present, "I would be very reluctant to recommend to our board of directors that they go further in the investment in this plant unless we have a firm gas supply."

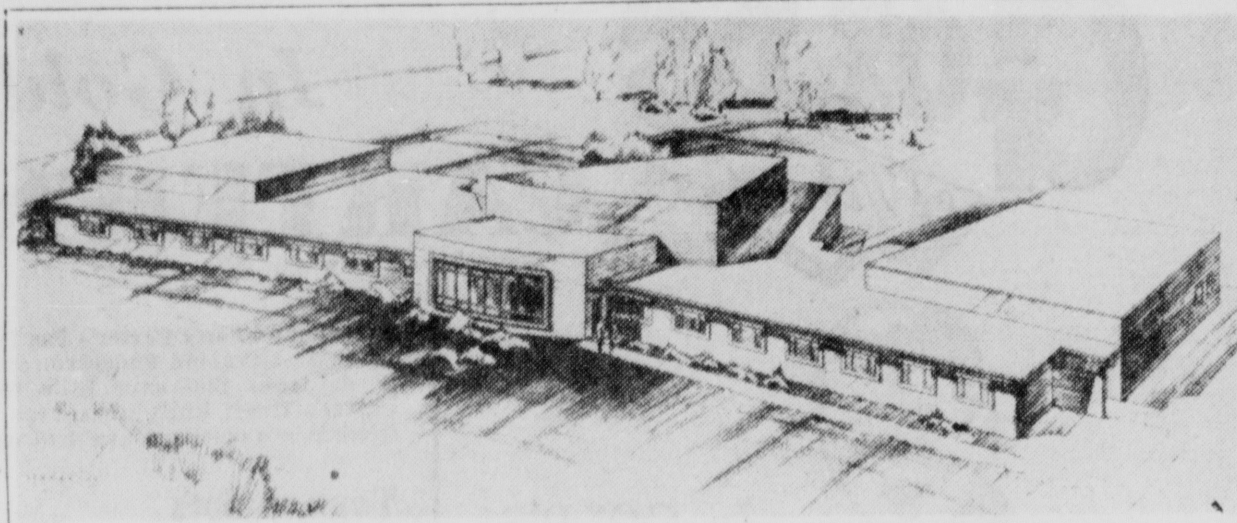

Water Legislation Planned By Miller

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation to authorize construction of two irrigation projects in Nebraska is planned by Rep. Miller (R-Neb.).

One bill planned by Miller would authorize the Ainsworth Irrigation Project, estimated to cost about 25 million dollars. The other would authorize the Mid-State Project near Grand Island which would call for a federal expenditure of about 21 million dollars.

Miller told a reporter he plans to ask an appropriation for a high powered transmission line to carry Missouri River power from Ft. Randall, in South Dakota to a point near Grand Island.

An architect's drawing of the new Fine Arts Buildings to be erected on the Hastings College campus in the near future is shown above. A brick structure, the building will be located north of Weyer Hall and will include studios for the music department staff on either side of a center lounge looking toward the west across Meadowbrook Golf Course. At the north and south ends of the building the art and band departments will have their respective quarters. Directly behind the lounge will be Perkins Hall, an auditorium with a seating capacity of approximately 250. It will be used for recitals, debates, lectures and other small gatherings. (Drawing Special to The Star.)

Sorority Row Guest

Plane-ing into Lincoln on Wednesday morning was Mrs. Fleming W. Pendleton of Independence, Mo., Kappa Kappa Gamma province director of chapters, who will spend a few days as the guest of the Kappa Kappa Gamma chapter on the Nebraska campus.

At the Airport to greet the visitor were Miss Nancy Hawkins (center), president of the active chapter, and Miss Sheila Templeton (right).

Mrs. Pendleton will be honored at numerous affairs during her stay in Lincoln.

IF YOU want to take your world literally, it's a cold, cold place this ayem—Personally we prefer the figurative view point—that makes everything bright, sunny—and cozy—Our choice, of course, is based on the fact that we have a variety of news, and whether it is spectacular or not depends entirely upon how you look at it.

WE SUSPECT that the Joseph R. Seacrest household considers Wednesday, Jan. 12, quite a spectacular day—The family, which up to now has included Mr. and Mrs. Seacrest and their four sons, Eric, Gary, Ted and Kent, has another member—a daughter, Miss Shawn Kadel Seacrest who, at the moment, is viewing the world from the Lincoln General Hospital nursery.

And just in case you are wondering about the "Kadel" part of young Miss Seacrest's name—it was the maiden name of her grandmother, Mrs. Joseph W. Seacrest.

AND Wednesday also was a happy and spectacular day for Mr. and Mrs. John K. Selleck, for their granddaughter, Virginia Ann Phillips, also arrived at Lincoln General Hospital on Jan. 12.

The future debutant is the daughter of Lt. and Mrs. J. D. Phillips, and her mother, as you may have guessed, is the former Joan Selleck.

Lt. Phillips received the news of his daughter's arrival by cable—He is on a tour of duty in Japan.

WE'LL leave the crib set now for other matters—such as a guest on sorority row—Mrs. Fleming W. Pendleton of Independence, Mo., Kappa Kappa Gamma Province Director of chapters, who arrived by plane Wednesday morning for a visit at the KKG house on the Nebraska campus.

Today Mrs. Pendleton will be honored when Mrs. Robert Russell entertains at luncheon at the University Club. Following the luncheon Mrs. Pendleton will join the Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae for a dessert luncheon and meeting at the chapter house.

Coming from out of town for the luncheon and the afternoon meeting are Mrs. John Goodwin of Omaha, province vice president, and Mrs. Fay Catlin, president of the Omaha Alumnae Club of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

at her home, complimenting Mrs. Kopperud.

UNDERSTAND that Mr. and Mrs. David J. Janard have returned to their home in Denver after a brief visit in Lincoln as the guests of Mrs. Janard's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pickard.

Mr. and Mrs. Janard arrived last week-end to attend Mr. and Mrs. Pickard's 25th wedding anniversary open house on Sunday.

Legislators Discuss School District Levy Ceilings

Would Ease Changes In Districting

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Should there be a ceiling on the amount of levies a school district can make? This appears to be one of the most discussed questions before the Legislature.

At the present time only the Omaha School District has a ceiling limit. However, when the limit was removed from Lincoln schools two years ago it was for only a two year period.

According to Sen. Otto Liebers, the Lincoln schools now want removal of the ceiling made permanent so that they can do long-range planning.

Sen. George Syas, Omaha, says that the schools in that city only plan to ask for removal of the ceiling for a four-year period. Delegations from the two larger counties are trying to get together and agree on a four year removal of the ceilings in both cities.

Ceilings have been removed from smaller school districts for several years and Sen. K. W. Peterson, Sargent, said Wednesday that he may introduce a bill that would put the tax ceiling back on all districts. If such a bill is introduced it will attract support from a number of outstate senators. They argue that it will increase the reorganization of school districts.

"People are often afraid to re-district because they don't know what the new mill levy will be," Peterson explained. "If there were ceilings, people would know the maximum that their levies could be increased."

A large number of outstate senators echo Peterson's views and relate instances in their districts where reorganization was defeated by fear of the unlimited levies.

While the move to eliminate ceilings started in the outstate districts and they were retained in the metropolitan areas, it now appears that school planning is hampered in these areas of rapid growth by lack of assurance that they will be able to meet expansion obligations.

Both Sens. Liebers and Syas said they have had bills drafted to permanently remove ceilings from Lincoln and Omaha schools, but they indicated Wednesday that they will not be introduced and instead they will endeavor to get agreement on a four-year period of no ceilings.

COMPETITION COULDN'T BE TOO TOUGH

DUNNING, Neb. — For a barber shop hair cut in this Nebraska Sandhills country, you might find it necessary to drive as much as 125 miles round-trip.

Two months ago Dunning lost its only barber—though there's still a shop for lease there—and Thedford, too, is without one.

'Cornhusker Company' Applicants Set Sail

These men, from Lincoln and surrounding territory, board a train here for Omaha to take examinations with the hope of becoming members in the Navy's Cornhusker Company, a

Now Omaha Bids For Blind School

A bill to move the State School for the Blind from Nebraska City to Omaha may be introduced, Sen. George Syas of Omaha said Wednesday. He would locate it at the present site of the School for the Deaf.

This plan has been discussed in past sessions, but has always drawn opposition from workers with the physically handicapped.

A bill has been introduced by Sen. Don McGinley to move the school to Kearney. Parents of blind children have urged a more central location where the children could have the advantage of a community "with a good college."

A Nebraska City delegation met with Gov. Victor Anderson a few hours before the removal bill was introduced but Sen. John Aufenkamp said he informed them that the decision was up to the Legislature.

The buildings at the present institution are old and will soon be in need of replacement. The parents of the blind want any new building to be at a more central location.

Bixler Might Introduce $10 Auto Tag Bill

Sen. Monroe Bixler of Harrison said Wednesday he is considering introducing a bill setting the license fee for passenger cars uniformly at $10 a year.

Under the fee schedule adopted by the 1953 Legislature, 383,000 cars last year paid $8 a year, while 100,000 lighter weight vehicles paid $6.

Total collections under this fee schedule amount to about $3,664,000 a year, with 70 per cent going to the counties and 30 per cent to the State Highway Department.

Bixler said that along with the uniform fee proposal, some consideration might be given to a 60-40 division of the revenue. This would give the highway department considerably more money to use in matching federal aid available to Nebraska, while at the same time the counties would be getting more than they do now.

A $10 license fee would bring an estimated total of $4,830,000 a year. The proposed increase could mean at least $2,000,000 more annually for state highway construction, Bixler said.

In addition to increasing the revenue, the proposed uniform fee would simplify the task for the county treasurers who collect the money, Bixler said.

Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala said Tuesday he is gathering information which would have a bearing on his proposed bill to have Nebraska automobile license tags carry the designation "Beef State."

The designation would be similar to the "Corn State" legend on Iowa tags and the "Wheat State" slogan on Kansas plates.

Quick Police Save Sidney Movie House

SIDNEY, Neb. — Quick action by two Sidney policemen early Wednesday prevented a serious fire in the business district.

Officers Bill Paulson and Tom Vannoy were sitting down to a cup of coffee in a cafe when they noticed flames across the street in the lobby of Fox Theater.

The officers dashed across the street, broke open a door, and put out the fire which had started in an overheated popcorn machine.

School Bond Voters Must Be Registered

An opinion by the Attorney General's office Wednesday said that city residents must be registered in order to vote in bond elections for school districts including a portion of the city or outlying territory of the city.

The opinion, written by Asst. Attorney General Robert V. Hoagland, also contended that a voter is eligible to vote in such a school election if he has paid the required tax and license fees upon his automobile although he may not have been assessed at the last annual election.

B. E. Boyles, chief deputy election commissioner for Lancaster County, requested the opinion.

WILL YOU GET POLIO IN 1955?

Who will get polio in 1955? If you live in a county of small population, the risk is greater that you will.

Anybody can get polio, anywhere, any time. It is no respecter of class, job, group—or of geographic boundary. But statistics gathered by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis show the chances of polio striking have been 14 per cent greater in counties where there are less than 50,000 people than in counties with a larger population.

Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director for Nebraska, says 1954 polio incidence records for Nebraska bear out the national figures.

He said that the average per capita polio incidence rate was approximately 39 per 100,000 population for Nebraska counties over 50,000 in population, as compared to approximately 60 per 100,000 for Nebraska counties under 50,000 in population.

These facts may surprise a great many people, Ted Hughes, state health director, says. Years ago, most diseases, including polio, were reported more fully in big cities where health departments had larger staffs.

But the crippling pattern of polio incidence, Hughes continued, has been carefully traced by the National Foundation since 1938. Figures during a five-year period, '48-'52, show:

In larger counties with more than 200,000 people, the annual average is 23 out of every 100,000. In counties with less than 50,000, the annual average was 27 persons stricken with polio per 100,000 population.

Why this is true, Hughes said, no one knows. Epidemic studies of polio prove that there is no true and steady pattern to be found in the course of this disease.

But today, he said, one thing about polio is predictable. That is the promptness with which aid is sped into the fight by the Foundation. When polio strikes, you can be sure of swift assistance in any part of the country.

Claim Notarization Outmoded, County Board Believes

The Lancaster County Board believes the statutory requirement for the notarization of all claims against the county "no longer serves a useful purpose."

In its place, the Board has urged a new law providing for criminal penalties for the making of a false claim against a county.

In a resolution introduced by Commissioner Del Lienemann, the Board went on record favoring such legislative change and directed the County Attorney's office to draft a bill for presentation to the Legislature for enactment.

Lienemann said many divisions of government no longer require notarization. He cited federal income tax returns and claims against the University of Nebraska. County Clerk J. B. Morgan agreed with Lienemann that notarization of county claims is time-consuming both for the claimant and county officials and is generally out-moded.

New Indoor Mark Is Probable

Santee's Entry Assures Hot Mile Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the hottest mile races in indoor track history was assured Wednesday for the Washington Evening Star Games. Wes Santee, the University of Kansas whizbang, mailed in his entry blank.

The Star meet, set for Jan. 22, will match Santee against a carefully culled field of crack milers and provide the National Armory crowd with an almost certain meet record, if not an indoor mark.

In the field with Santee are Gunnar Nielson of Denmark, rated just behind Santee as the world's top miler in active competition, and a pair of good American middle-distance men, Bob McMillen of Occidental College and Joe LaPierre of Georgetown University.

Dodds Holds World Mark
The world record for an indoor mile is 4:05.3, set in a 1948 Madison Square Garden meet by Gil Dodds. The Star games mark is 4:13.4, set last year by Ohio State's Len Truex, who now is on military duty.

Actually, Santee has bettered Dodds' record running under a roof, but his 4:04.9 mile achieved a year ago at the Michigan State field house, was over a cinder track and does not figure in the standard indoor records.

Now that Roger Bannister and John Landy, the only two men to break the 4-minute standard, have retired from racing, Santee is regarded as the fastest miler in the business. He has come within six-tenths of a second of hitting the 4-minute mark, but it continues to elude him.

Adieu To The Mauler

The state of Nebraska loses a prominent immigrant at the end of this month when the U.S. infantry claims Ken Kunes, the Maywood, Ill., gentleman who labored in the ranks of Cornhusker guards the past fall.

This guy Kunes is real democratic all the way. He is skipping a service commission and will use those football muscles as a doggie walking among the rest of the privates somewhere down south.

Back in Maywood, a Chicago suburb, they say that K. K. had a future in 16 amateur bouts and was never knocked off his feet, but the football bug bit him deeply and he jumped into the college world to try the sport for which he was noted at Proviso High School.

Kunes took collegiate life in his robust stride and never missed a step. Into the dramatic life of the University of Nebraska campus he injected a dramatic quality several years ago when he masterminded a bloody murder in the school Student Union.

It seems that a model Union Nations session was in progress in the Union one afternoon. The Maywood Mauler and two friends burst into the assembly room and Kunes fired a blankloaded pistol at a planted friend who was addressing the students. The friend immediately splashed a handful of catnip on his chest and fell bleeding to the floor.

The assassins seized the victim and dragged him from the room and left a wild body of delegates shouting that someone should capture the killers.

Two Nebraskans battled on a Kansas basketball court last Saturday night when Houston fell before Wichita University in a Missouri Valley game.

Seven-foot Don Boldeback of Lincoln and 6-8 Merv Carmen of Tecumseh were the Huskers. Boldy scored 25 points for the point guard while Carmen was an effective defensive player for the winning team.

Big Merv played his high school ball at Tecumseh in the early 40's, later played industrial ball in Los Angeles and was lured to Wichita by the Schocker coach, Ralph Graham, a former KU flash.

Basketball is quite a sport at Wichita. The boys from southern Kansas hit both coasts last winter and made a second trip to New York to play in the National Invitational Tournament.

It is said in Schulte Fieldhouse that Tobias Vorce, a native of that small town, He testifies that Tobias was unlucky last winter but will make his own luck this time when bands start playing tournament songs.

Some Other 'Gimmick' Needed To Cut Scoring

By JERRY LISK

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Basketball Committee still thinks the present "bonus" free throw rule is working out okay and, if scoring has to be throttled, some other gimmick must be used—like perhaps a larger ball.

Saddler In Title Bout—Finally

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—After over three years, including a two-year hitch in the Army, Sandy Saddler finally has agreed to defend his world featherweight title, Friday, Feb. 25 at Madison Square Garden against Teddy (Red Top) Davis, the No. 1 contender from Hartford, Conn.

Stripped of recognition in National Boxing Assn. states because he refused to heed the NBA's Dec. 14 deadline, the 28-year-old champion will be engaging someone other than Willie Pep in a title fight for the first time.

The rangy New York Negro won the title from wily Willie, Oct. 29, 1948, lost it back to Pep the next year and won it again, Sept. 8, 1950 when Pep "retired" because of a shoulder injury. He stopped Pep again, Sept. 26, 1951, his last defense.

Verbal Agreement

The actual contracts have not been signed but the International Boxing Club announced the match on a verbal agreement between Charlie Johnston, Saddler's manager, promoter Jim Norris and Mushky Salow, Davis' manager.

"We're all set on terms," said Johnston. "Only a few details of the television deal remains to be worked out. I'm getting 40 per cent, that's all I know."

The IBC and Salow did not disclose other financial arrangements but Saddler obviously was going to get most of the money for giving D vis a chance at the crown.

'54 Game Income Down By $69,998

A state game, forestation and parks commission spokesman Wednesday reported income for 1953 exclusive of parks appropriation and federal aid to fish and wildlife was $856,996.82, including two years of deer permit sales. This was $69,998.90 higher than the 1954 income of $786,997.92.

The most significant single drop in revenue is the $1,104.96 difference in income returns from sale of fishing and hunting permits. Obviously this is a reflection of the low pheasant populations throughout the state.

The game commission also receives an appropriation from the Legislature for use in administering state parks. This is the only tax money that is received by the commission and it is prescribed by law for financing state parks. The commission also receives funds from the federal aid to fish and wildlife act on a three-fourths matching basis.

A breakdown on income:

| | 1953 | 1954 |

Capacity Crowd Seen For Grapple

Two German grapplers who figure they can win the world tag team championship "Hans" and "Hermann" should fill the Fairgrounds arena close to capacity tonight.

Hans Schmidt and Hans Hermann go after the championship in the final match of a three-bout card starting at 8:30 p.m. Their opponents will be champs Reggie Lisowski and Art Nielsen.

Schmidt, Prof. Adam Krieger's best drawing card, and Hermann are a rugged but popular alliance. They should give the strong Nielsen-Lisowski combo one long evening.

To help pack 'em in, Krieger has added two supporting bouts. In the first Steve McGill, 225, the Omaha bruiser, tangles with the Son of Al Baba, 220, Arabia. Richard Brown, 235, Kansas City, meets wily Omaha Joe Dusek, 233, in the second half of the double semiwindup.

Grid Sub Rule 'Eased'; 5 Other Changes Okayed

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—The NCAA Football Rules Committee Wednesday eased up a trifle on the "anti-platoon" substitution rule and made five other changes in the rules for 1955. In addition, it strongly urged coaches and officials to observe and enforce two rules now in the book with an implied threat of drastic action if "false start" violations aren't eliminated.

Accepting the recommendation of the Football Coaches Assn., the committee eliminated the controversial 4-minute segment at the end of each half and ruled that the players who start each quarter of a game will be eligible to leave and re-enter once during that quarter. Those who don't participate in the opening down of a period can't re-enter in the same period.

No Returns To Platoons

Although this is a step in the other direction from the change of two years ago that outlawed two-platoon football, the committee and coaches had no inclination to return to platoon football. The idea was to do away with the 4-minute segment, which some coaches felt made football a six-period game, and to give coaches and doctors a chance to examine slightly injured players without losing them for an entire quarter.

The change also makes possible limited use of some specialists. For instance a player can come in once to kick a conversion and the one for whom he substituted can return, but it can't happen twice in one quarter.

Five Changes

The other changes passed Wednesday were:

1. A player who kneels to hold the ball for a place kick now can rise and run, pass or kick. This is an exception to the rule which makes the ball dead once the carrier touches the ground with any part of his body but the hands or feet.
2. The "tackle eligible" forward pass play is legal only if no other offensive player is stationed outside the end man when the ball is snapped. A tackle, guard or center becomes an eligible pass receiver if he is the end man on the scrimmage line. The additional provision eliminates borderline deception when an end, stationed far out, would drop back a yard to make the next man eligible.

3. The "hideout" play was outlawed by a provision that when the ball is spotted and declared ready for play, all offensive players must be within 15 yards of the ball. Afterward they can go where they please. The previous "no hideout" rule applied only when substitutes were coming in or out of the game.

4. The fair catch signal was changed to eliminate the wig-wag, which the committee felt was too difficult to perform while catching the ball. The signal now is just raising one hand clearly above the head.

5. The use of shoe cleats with rounded bottoms was authorized. "On the 'false start' and 'sucker shift,' which occupied about one third of the time during the day meeting, the decision was to leave the rules alone. Instead, a new and stronger appeal will be made to adhere to the present rule in spirit and letter. Meanwhile, a special committee will make a complete and exhaustive study of the problem.

Chairman H. O. (Fritz) Crysler said the committee felt the trouble with false starts came from officials who don't enforce the rule closely and coaches who evade it, and that a change might lead to new complications, possibly even the elimination of shifts.

"We want to exhaust the other possibilities first. But if we're not able to stop it this year, the committee is prepared to take very drastic action within a year."

ADAMS—Palmyra crushed hustling Hickman 87-62 Wednesday to enter the finals of the Mudecas Basketball Tournament here Saturday night.

High-scoring Steinauer blasted Burr 80-47 in Class B and Cortland used a tight defense to eliminate Roca in Class C, 52-36.

Palmyra's sharp Panthers hit Hickman with a 23-point first quarter and never relaxed until the Hornets were out of the tournament.

Dean Hallowell, the slick Palmyra center, scored 27 points for the defending champions. Big Larry Schutte got 20 for Hickman before fouling out.

Castellani Stops Mims, May Get Shot At Title

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rocky Castellani Wednesday night won a unanimous 12-round decision over an unhappy Holly Mims who carried his objections into the dressing room and almost engaged the winner again.

The victory virtually clinched Castellani another crack at Bobo Olson's middleweight title.

Mims, along with his manager, Nick Trotta, and his trainers started yelling in the dressing room that he had been butted during the fight and rubbed along the ropes.

Castellani and his entourage took

Only Army Disappointed College Circles Glad To Keep Erdelatz

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP) — It is assumed there is general satisfaction in college circles over the decision of Eddie Erdelatz to remain as Navy coach, although Army might look upon it with disappointment, not to say apprehension.

West Point probably would favor the Middies' return to the old graduate coach system, whereby some officer who had been trained to fight a war suddenly found himself teaching boys to play a game.

Inasmuch as these coaches were rotated every two years they were back aboard ship before the athletes caught on to the system of play.

In January, 1948, after Navy had gone through two seasons with a record of 15 defeats, two victories and a tie, a special committee of former athletes met to see about the sad situation.

The result was the decision to hire a more or less permanent civilian coach. Army had done that in 1941, although the civilian, Earl Blaik, was a West Point graduate. After a couple of years of initiation, the Blaik system started to roll, and hasn't stopped, although slowed down once by the so-called cribbing affair.

George Sauer was the first Navy civilian coach under the new set-up. He lasted through the 1948 and 1949 seasons, and a stocky, genial fellow named Eddie Erdelatz took his place.

That was Jan. 11, 1951, and what has happened to Navy football fortunes since that lucky day is pretty well known. The Middies aren't just rolling. They're practically steam rolling.

Erdelatz has an amazing knack of communicating some of his own eagerness and fire and zest for the game to his players, who consequently play better than they know how.

Usually they are a bunch of guys named Joe as far as the public is concerned. That is, they aren't publicized much as individuals, and until the last couple of games the past season you might have had the idea the squad was made up of Ron Beagle, a really fine end.

These Joes play with a relentless ferocity, knocking down opponents all over the place and then doing it again before they have time to apologize. It is very discouraging to play a team which keeps coming at you like so many Rocky Marcianos.

The decision of Erdelatz to sign again with Navy indicates he wasn't just giving out the old blarney when he said, on signing the original contract:

"I'm thrilled and very honored to be selected by an institution with such high academic and athletic standards as the Naval Academy."

There had been reports hinting strongly that the big fellow would take the job as coach of the Los Angeles Rams at considerably more money than he would be able to get at Annapolis, although Erdelatz himself denied any such plans and the Rams said he was just one of many being considered.

We believe that, even if he suffers a financial loss in remaining with Navy at a salary estimated at $17,000, he will gain a lot of personal satisfaction. After all, there is considerable prestige connected with the job, particularly when a man is as successful as Erdelatz has been.

No matter what he might be offered by a pro team, or some other school, the academy should have pride enough in having a representative football team to keep him there. And have money enough to do it. After all, the government makes its own.

Two Capital City Teams In Cage Action Tonight

Tow tough parochial teams furnish the opposition for Cathedral and Teachers as the local prep basketball week end begins.

Teachers hosts Columbus St. Bonaventure at the Coliseum in an 8 p.m. game. Cathedral plays at St. Cecilia of Hastings in a game which was moved ahead from Friday.

The Tutors will be favored to win their fourth game in six starts as they return to the Coliseum floor after four games on the road. The Bonnies have a 3-3 record, including a 56-51 victory over Cathedral and two losses to Omaha Holy Name.

Three York Cagers Top 'Star' List

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

Three York High players draw The Star's Star of the Week spotlight today for their play against a fine Geneva team last week in one of the biggest games of the young Nebraska prep basketball season.

Bob Harry and the Smith boys—Duane and Paul—got the big points for the Dukes in a 47-46 victory over one of the best Class B teams in the state.

Six-five Harry was at his best on rebounds off both boards and the big fellow knocked in 19 points to lead all scorers.

Duane Smith hit five field goals, most of them long shots, and Paul Smith scored five times on driving lay-ups. The floor play of Paul Smith possibly was the best feature of the game.

Among the other prep players who had it last week were:

Al Graves, Lincoln High—He scored 22 points as the Links pounded Sioux City Central.

Keith Everts, Geneva—The Wildcat center scored 16 points against big York and almost pulled Geneva through to an upset.

Bill Fisher, Tobias—Swift Fisher scored 30 points for the powerful Tigers as they devoured Ong.

John Heubert, Henderson—His club lost to Friend in a high-scoring game, but he scored 28 points to keep Henderson in the fight all the way.

Vince Horke, Friend—Thirty-four points by Horke broke Henderson.

Bob Finn and Walter Huff, Tecumseh—They outshot a capable Lincoln Teachers team.

Gary Ruhl, Exeter—The Eagles won over Utica as Ruhl scored 26 points to again lead his team.

Dell Rathe, Sterling—A fine player last season, Rathe emphasized his improvement this winter when he wrecked Clatonia with a 48-point performance.

Clyde Haskins, Fullerton—His four free throws in the last minute beat Genoa for the N-B-N Tournament title.

Dave Barker, Milford—Garland couldn't stop Barker and fell before Milford, 79-50. Barker, consistently a high scorer for the Eagles, hit 24 points.

Larry Schumtze, Hickman—The 6-4 center of the Bulldogs crashed through with 21 points in a victory over Panama.

Mel Harmon, Hebron—Thirty-one points by Harmon carried the Bears past a Sutton team which pressed through the first half and scored well all the way.

Orville Lenz of Elmwood is in charge.

Lenz said the coyotes are "worse this year than any year I've seen," with calves and sheep killed.

The hunters will assemble at Elmwood. Between 160 and 180 participated in last year's hunt, Lenz said.

Burk May Edge Graham For Signal-Calling

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Adrian Burk of Philadelphia may get the starting quarterback assignment in Sunday's Pro Bowl game instead of Cleveland's Otto Graham.

Coach Jim Trimble of Philadelphia hadn't definitely made up his mind Wednesday but for a couple of reasons he is expected to lead with Burk. Graham was late for practice—he performed in the Hula Bowl game at Hawaii last week-end—and Burk knows Trimble's system, having been his signal caller for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Both are expected to be major powers in the offense for the East All-Stars who collide with a stellar group of pros from the Western clubs in the charity game.

During the National Football League season, Burk threw 23 touchdown passes and completed 53.2 per cent of 231 attempts. Graham, who led Cleveland to the title, tossed for 11 touchdowns and completed 59.2 per cent of his 240 losses.

Graham's average gain per pass attempt was 8.72 yards, second in the league behind the champion, Norman Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams. Van Brocklin and Y. A. Tittle of San Francisco will share the assignment for the West team coaches by Buck Shaw, lately of the 49ers.

Trimble listed his "three-deep" lineups Wednesday and indicated there'll be plenty of work for a couple of stalwart linemen, Frank Kilroy of the Eagles and Jerry Groom of the Chicago Cardinals.

Here's how he had them listed for possible service:

Groom—right tackle on defense,

Where they'll actually see service remains to be seen. Coach Shaw eased the practice tempo of his West squad Wednesday as it appeared to near a peak. "I don't want to take any more chances of anybody coming up with a pulled muscle," he said.

Leahy's Ailment Still Not Diagnosed

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Leahy, 46, former Notre Dame football coach, who entered Passavant Hospital a week ago Wednesday, will undergo examination of a stomach condition for another week.

Leahy said he was "feeling fine," but that the exact nature of his ailment has not yet been diagnosed. Stomach spasms caused Leahy's collapse during the Notre Dame-Georgia Tech game two seasons ago and caused his retirement last Feb. 1.

Congress Has 2,000 New Laws Before Them—More To Come

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has been on the job only a week, but already it has been tossed such horticultural, urbicultural and agricultural problems as:

(A) Should the rose be our national flower?

(B) Do the nation's urbiculturists—that is, city dwellers—deserve a Cabinet officer and a full department to look after their interests? (C) What can be done about the unrewarding life of a North Dakota pullet?

Congress has met on only four days, and much of its time has been taken up in organizing and in getting the word from President Eisenhower. Yet the 435 representatives have managed to propose more than 2,000 laws, the Senators have ideas for another 300, and there's no sign of a letup.

Lady Solon

Appropriately, the horticultural note is supplied by a lady legislator, Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) has introduced a resolution to have the rose named our national flower.

The urbiculturist is Rep. J. Arthur Younger (R-Calif.), who not only thought up the idea but also the word. During the last Congress Younger got to thinking about how the agriculture department worries about the farmers. Fine, especially in the days when this was an agricultural country, but now that everyone is moving to town, who worries about the city slickers?

Nobody, was Younger's answer. So he made up the word, and again has introduced a bill calling for a Department of Urbiculture.

Sen. William Langer (R-ND) fetched in the pullet problem. It came in a letter from Mrs. Lloyd Randall, a Lake Williams, N.D., farm wife, who said she has been selling pullet eggs for as low as six cents a dozen and leghorn hens for as little as 18 cents apiece. Why, said Mrs. Randall, we got that much during the depression, only then coffee cost 25 cents a pound and now it's $1.25.

"A legitimate complaint," Langer told the Senate. And although he didn't introduce a bill, he did send the letter to the Senate Agriculture Committee.

As always, special postage stamps have a remarkable appeal to congressmen.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), joined by 29 other senators, wants a special stamp to honor the memory of a great woman filer, Amelia Earhart. Rep. Noah Mason (R-Ill) wants one for the 100th anniversary of the Illinois State Normal University.

Countess Dead
MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Countess Elizabeth Toerring-Jettenbach, a former princess of Greece and Denmark and a sister of Britain's Duchess of Kent, died in a Munich hospital. She was 50. Doctors said the countess was admitted to the hospital about four weeks ago. They declined to disclose the nature of her ailment.

Gen. Cannon Dead

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Gen. John Kenneth Cannon (Ret), 62, who during his military career headed the Air Force training program and tactical command, died of a heart attack at his home Wednesday.

Gen. Cannon, known by the men who served under him as "Uncle Joe," retired as a full general last year.

Funeral services have tentatively been set for the Later-Day Saints Church in Washington, D. C., Friday, with burial in Arlington National Cemetery.

Colbert, John E. Curtiss, William C. Hastings, Albert A. Held, Robert E. Henderson, Leonard J. Hines, Carl C. Hudson, Richard A. Jay, Dean Kratz, Carl W. Olson, Dr. F. A. Legislators Get 1954 Blue Book

Copies of the 1954 Nebraska Blue Book, factual handbook on the government of Nebraska and its sub-divisions, were delivered to the legislators Wednesday.

The 574-page volume is 68-pages thicker than the 1952 edition.

It is more up-to-date than previous editions, because it includes members of the current legislative session. Previous volumes have run two years behind in this respect.

Arrest Of 4 Clears 7 County Break-Ins

Seven break-ins of Lancaster County farm homes have been cleared with the arrest at McCook of four teen-age youths from Sioux Falls, S.D.

McCook police have notified Sheriff Merle Karnopp that the three 16-year-old boys and one 17-year-old have admitted seven break-ins in this county, giving approximate location of each home and list of articles or money taken.

However, the articles taken were sold along the route taken by the boys, who left Sioux Falls Dec. 24 traveling through Iowa and Nebraska to New Mexico and were returning home through Colorado and western Nebraska, according to McCook authorities.

The youths have been turned over to Colorado authorities, who furnished the description which led to the arrest of the youths on Jan. 10, McCook police said.

They were wanted for break-ins of a rural schoolhouse near Pueblo, Colo., and a farm home near Logan, Colo.

Listed items taken in this county included gasoline, camera, several log chains, electric razors, money from piggy banks, various electrical appliances, food, and cooking utensils and dishes.

40 Airmen Included In Adult High Grads

A mid-year graduation exercise, including close to 40 airmen from the Lincoln Air Base, will take place Jan. 27 at 8 p.m. at the Public Schools Administration Building.

The graduating class, of about 70 persons, has been under the instruction for high school diplomas of courses held under the direction of Ona Wagner, director of night school instruction with the public schools.

School Group Rejects 'Disorganization' Plan

The State Committee for School District Reorganization has turned down the proposed "disorganization" of Lancaster County School District 154, located near Raymond and Davey.

Voters of District 154 had asked its dissolution and that Districts 37 and 112—from which the new district was organized by petition last year—be recreated.

County Supt. Glenn Turner has been notified that the Committee voted "not to approve" the proposed dissolution. The Committee recommended that the "people of the new district make further effort to work together to provide a good school for the children of the district."

Action on two other pending proposals for redistricting in the county have been postponed by the Committee until its Feb. 5 meeting, Turner was advised.

State's Cash Balance Drops Below $60 Million

The total cash balance for the State of Nebraska dropped below 60 million dollars during December, the State Treasurer's office reported Wednesday.

The cash balance at the end of 1954 amounted to $58,665,636.56 as compared with $60,953,729.88 the previous year. The balance is expected to rise again this month when new tax funds pour into the treasury.

Base Swimming Pool Bids Asked

OMAHA (AP)—Bids are to be invited for construction of a swimming pool at the Lincoln Air Force Base, the Omaha District office of Army Engineers said Wednesday. The pool will be 120 by 70 feet. It will have bathhouse, 84 by 24 feet, of masonry construction. Bids will be opened Feb. 11.

Aged Woman Is Found Starving, Brother Dead

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An aged woman — weighing less than 50 pounds — was found starving and her younger brother dead Wednesday in a littered two-room apartment, police said. Officers turned up about $250 in cash and 35 uncashed relief checks totaling several hundred dollars.

Police said Miss Alice Kelly, 84, was seated in a rocking chair and that the body of her brother, John, 78, was upright on a sofa.

Physicians at St. Francis Hospital reported Miss Kelly suffering from malnutrition and shock.

A doctor who pronounced the brother dead said he may have died a week ago. Cause of death was not given immediately.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, soapy, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plastic odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

Missouri Plans Pershing Memorial

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Carl Mose, St. Louis sculptor, was chosen Wednesday to produce a 10-foot statue of Gen. John J. (Black Jack) Pershing for the capital grounds of his native state of Missouri.

Mose's plaster model, about three feet high, shows Pershing in the uniform of a four-star general of World War I—the rank he held when he was commander of the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe.

The 1953 Missouri Legislature allotted $25,000 for the memorial honoring Pershing. Missouri already has a state park named for the famous general.

Tax Form Help

Persons are urged to fill in as much as possible of their 1954 Federal income tax returns before seeking assistance at the Lincoln Internal Revenue office.

This was asked by Acting Group Supervisor Kenneth Guest because of the unusually large number of persons seeking assistance this year and a reduced number of revenue agents available.

Guest said it will not be practical to assist in the actual preparation of business schedules and returns for the larger incomes.

Chancellor Clifford Hardin and Mrs. Hardin, Chief Justice Simmons and Mrs. Simmons, Dr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Rosenolf of the admissions office and Miss Lucille Cypreansen, advisor to the Cosmopolitan Club.

Because of new changes in the law pertaining to income from dividends and annuities along with the computation of retirement income tax credits, Guest said considerably more time is required for the preparation of some returns.

He said persons should have dividends amounts received prior to Aug. 1, 1954, separated from those received on that date and after before coming to the office if assistance in tax computation is desired.

Persons making an annual income tax return, using Form 1040

Pushes Man Into Bay—

Mitchum Bounced From Lead Role In 'Blood Alley' For 'Horseplay'

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Actor Robert Mitchum has been released as the star in the motion picture "Blood Alley" being filmed on San Francisco Bay.

Lee Ferrero, publicity man for the Warner Bros. unit, said Robert Mitchum, co-producer of the film, ousted Mitchum from the cast because Mitchum, "in a bit of horseplay," pushed a man from a gangplank into the bay.

Mitchum

George Coleman, the film company's transportation manager, was the person who took the plunge, Ferrero said, and Fellows thereupon released Mitchum "for action detrimental to the making of the film."

William A. Wellman, director of the picture, was quoted as saying the company has a 2½ million dollars budgeted for "Blood Alley" and he isn't going to risk the chance of having horseplay spoil his plans.

Ferrero quoted Mitchum as saying: "I am going back to Hollywood and am withdrawing from the picture. There are no hard feelings—we didn't see eye to eye."

Diver Hunts Fabled Inca City On Bottom Of Lake Titicaca

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—William Mardorf, 29-year-old Chicago born deepsea diver, began a hunt Wednesday on the bottom of Lake Titicaca—the world's highest large lake—for the fabled submerged City of the Incas.

Mardorf also hopes his exploration will turn up Inca gold and other treasures. He has a concession from the government to exclusive exploration rights for 18 months. The government will get a 25 per cent share of any gold found.

The diver, who said he learned his business during service with the Marine Corps, is known around La Paz as "The Frogman." He has done preliminary exploration in the Suche River which empties into the lake. He also said he searched Venezuelan rivers for diamonds.

Although Lake Titicaca is only about 15 degrees from the equator, its waters are frigid since it is over 12,000 feet above sea level.

Fellow Workers Plead In Vain; Father Of 8 Dies In Sewer Cave-in

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—A Philadelphia father of eight children died Wednesday in the collapse of a storm sewer excavation while fellow workers pleaded in vain to grasp an air hose as mud and water buried him in the 12-foot ditch.

Edward A. Massella, 53, of Philadelphia, drowned as water from a broken water main filled the excavation in nearby Yardville.

Police Capt. Phillip Booz said five other workmen scrambled to safety as the trench began to cave in, and threw in an air hose to the struggling victim who either could not grasp the hose or was too panic stricken to do so.

Suddenly, another cave-in occurred, breaking a water main running parallel with the excavation. The water and mud soon covered the trapped workman.
